

INVITATION

SMART
FOOD 2023

lub tech

to the LubTech Smart Food 2023 conference dedicated to advanced technologies in the area of food design and production that are crucial for the implementation of the European Green Transition trend - from farm to fork, taking into account circular economy approach, environmental sustainability and the efficient use of resources. During the conference, we will present the competences of the key players in the field as well as projects they carry out at national and international level. We will discuss success stories relating to partnership building and commercialisation and the use of digital technologies with which we want to inspire you to develop and implement your own projects in this priority area.

15th November 2023, 9:00

Lublin Conference Centre, Artura Grottgera Street 2, 20-029 Lublin and online.

Participation in conference is free of charge.

More information and registration form:

<https://lubtech.lublin.eu/>

